More than ever... public radio

Hurricane Dolly hit us in different ways... While we consider ourselves lucky because there were no reported casualties, the damages inflicted by the storm can still be seen in numerous family homes, businesses and infrastructure in the Rio Grande Valley. For many of those affected by floods and winds there are losses which will never be compensated.

Our Public Radio station was not the exception. During the hurricane our transmitters went off and stayed silent due to power outages. We managed to bring our signal back as soon as power was restored although one of our transmitters was literally surrounded by water. A five feet high platform, built years ago inside our transmission building in Lozano, Texas, precisely to prevent damages to the transmitter in a flooded environment, did its job... The people of Cameron and Willacy Counties were served and continue to be served by KMBH-FM just a few days after hurricane Dolly came our way, the same as the people of Hidalgo and Starr Counties through KHID-FM.

A membership drive had been planned in our yearly calendar for the end of July... around the days Dolly appeared in the Gulf of Mexico. We were forced to cancel our membership campaign. This has been a significant side effect of Dolly making a bad impact on our ability to serve our community in the Rio Grande Valley with the best of public radio.

Now we have ahead of us a great opportunity for you, our friends, our audience, to support your favorite radio station.

Now more than ever Public Radio 88FM is relevant in the lives of all the people in the Rio Grande Valley.

Now more than ever you can count on Public Radio 88FM to bring you the in-depth news coverage you need to better understand and interact with a complex situation in our country and in the world.

Now more than ever you can count on Public Radio 88FM to bring you the alternative music and the cultural information and commentaries you don't have anywhere else.

Now more than ever Public Radio 88FM counts on you, on your support through your calls with donations at 956-4128212 or 1-800-839-8860.

Thank you, people of the Rio Grande Valley for making public radio a part of your quality of life... now more than ever!!!

Your source for a variety of music, news and local information is

A Public Radio 88FM Halloween Tradition

«Deep into the darkness peering, long I stood there, wondering, fearing, doubting, dreaming dreams no mortal ever dared to dream before.» -Edgar Allan Poe, «The Raven»

The War Of The Worlds Original Radio Broadcast-hosted by Orson Welles and The Mercury Theatre Players-Friday October 31st 9pm

On Sunday, October 30, 1938, millions of radio listeners were shocked when radio news alerts announced the arrival of Martians. They panicked when they learned of the Martians' ferocious and seemingly unstoppable attack on Earth. Many ran out of their homes screaming while others packed up their cars and fled.

Though what the radio listeners heard was a portion of Orson Welles' adaptation of the well-known book, War of the Worlds by H. G. Wells, many of the listeners believed what they heard on the radio was real.

Politics Takes A Halloween Holiday! -Friday October 31st at 7pm

Take a break from politics this Halloween with the Capitol Steps. It's a trick-and-treat-filled night of songs and stories from Washington's most irreverent political satirists. They give their unique spin to topics ranging from the supreme court, to competing health care plans to chinese imports... You're in for a shockingly good time. Get into Halloween with the Capitol Steps.

The Roadhouse Revival, brings you the most uplifting and inspirational works and rare interviews from the world's greatest artists. The Roadhouse Revival...the best rockin' gospel this side of the Jordan River

Ready To Learn

It's All About Education!

Choose the best for your children

All TV teaches young children something. Any program your child watches-whether Sesame Street or wrestling-teaches something but it is important to ask: what is it you want your children to learn?

Smart TV-TV that teaches-does so because it is a good match between the social, emotional, and cognitive development skills of an audience. A three year old is learning very different skills and concepts than a six year old.

Smart TV is grounded in child growth and development and each show on PBS has a curriculum- a list of things to learn. The producers, the stars, and the writers work together to make sure the storyline, the puppets and/or characters, music, and scripts are built around a «hidden curriculum.» PBS gives you TV that entertains and teaches, too!

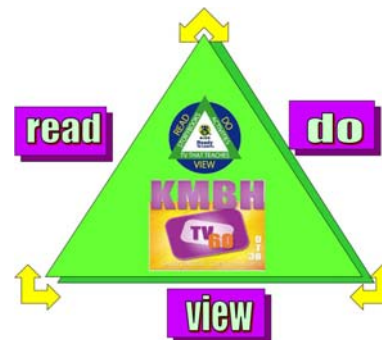

TV that Teaches:

- *Encourages creativity and critical thinking.
- *Shows people getting along with one another and characters who respect each other.
- *Shows there are many ways to solve a problem without using force or violence.
- *Promotes a sense of well-being, a sense of feeling good about who you are.
- *Invites children to sing along, answer questions, dance and join in the fun.
- *Allows time for children to think about the questions asked. For instance, when Mister Rogers asks «Do you know which one is an apple?» he allows time for the children at home to give their answers.
- *Reinforces the very things your children have been learning.
- *Inspires children to want to learn more.
- *Helps children feel good about their own and other people's cultures, family routines, and communities.

Children watch you watch TV, too! Show them that you are careful about what you watch. Be a good role model. Talk with them about your likes and dislikes. And, don't be afraid to tell them that some shows are for grown-ups, not children.

HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS FROM KMBH

As the little Ghosts and Goblins head out on Halloween night for treats please be sure and follow these little tips!

- *Dress your kids in a bright costume so others can see them. If their costume is dark, have your kids wear reflective strips or carry a glow stick or flashlight.
- *Instead of masks, have your kids wear make-up so they can see better.
- *Have your kids trick-or-treat in areas where there are a lot of people around.
- *Ensure your kids only visit houses with lights on.
- *Make sure your kids don't go inside someone's house. They can get their candy from the porch.
- *Finally, make sure your kids have tons of fun and get lots and lots of candy!
